Subject: Protecting Community Spaces / Diogelu Mannau Hamdden

I look back on my rugby career with pride but it all started for me playing on the King George's Field in Cardigan. That field - protected by Fields in Trust - was my first opportunity to play rugby which has given me and my family so much.

Fields in Trust partners with landowners including Town and Community Councils to protect land through a Deed of Dedication a binding legal commitment which protects land in perpetuity for future generations to enjoy. Our Green Spaces for Good programme can protect any publicly accessible park, playing field or nature reserve. For further details on protecting recreational space for future generations within your community please click here.
